WEEK 10 GOLF LEAGUE NOTES

After 3 weeks of the 2nd half, we have a pretty good race going. Mike, Terry, and Steve are all within 4 points of each other and Jay and I are not out of reach either. Steve came out of his shell this week and crushed the competition to win low net. Looks like he's trying for a reverse of last year - golf crappy at the end of the season instead of at the beginning... smart.

Speaking of Steve, there was a dispute over his score from week 8 (I think). Apparently there was a large discrepancy over the final score, but it appears to be a math error on the scoresheet because when adding each individual hole correctly, the final number was different. However, the caveat is hole #8 had a sloppy number written on it so maybe Steve can verify his score. The point is please write your scores neatly and double check your addition to avoid scoring issues.

Good luck and see you on the course!
